

To Advertisers.
Advertisers are requested to hand in changes for their advertisements not later than 9:30 a. m. on the day they wish them inserted. We desire that our advertising columns be kept fresh and bright, as we know it to be one of the great secrets of success in advertising, and for this reason we give our patrons frequent changes, but we must insist on the observance of the above rule, as we cannot have a regular complement of news when crowded with other matter in the middle of the day.

Business Notice.

J. A. Grant is our authorized agent to solicit subscriptions, advertising, job work and book-binding. The TOBACCO LEAF-CHRONICLE and American Farmer, a first-class 16-page agricultural journal, will be sent to any address, 12 months, for $2.00, d.w.t.

To Keep the Boys Straight.

That veteran Democrat, C. C. Bell, of Springfield, headed the following delegation down from Robertson today: Jas. Henry, Judge C. G. Holman, Maj. S. S. Gauge and Geo. Braswell. All of the party were delegates to the Senatorial convention save Capt. Bell, who merely came along to keep the boys straight.

Will Address the Convention.

Rev. W. J. Erdman, D. D., of Asheville, N. C., is on the program of the Y. M. C. A. convention, now in session in the Methodist church, for an address to-night at 7:30. This will be the address of the convention, and should be heard by every person in our city, as Dr. Erdman is considered by many as one of the greatest Bible students in the world.

SOCIETY.

Mrs. W. H. McCauley is visiting friends in Nashville.

W. B. Young and Joo. Anderson will leave for Dawson in the morning to spend a couple of weeks.

Miss Ruth Pugh left this morning for another school year in the Peabody Normal at Nashville.

Dr. Erdman, of Asheville, N. C., is attending the Y. M. C. A. convention and is stopping with B. F. McKee, Madison street.

The LEAF-CHRONICLE's sanctum was brightened today by a visit from Maj. Gause, editor of the Springfield Herald, Jas. H. Henry, mayor of the same city, and Montell Gause, publisher of the Guthrie Vidette—a trio of Jeffersonian Democrats and genial gentlemen.

Base Ball.

The Queen City's will cross bats to-morrow evening at the park with a nine made up from members of the fire department. The game will be called at 3 o'clock sharp. Following is the order of batting:

STRIKING MOTORMEN.

Trouble in Electric Car Circles at Memphis.

Special to the Leaf-Chronicle.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 6.—189 motormen and conductors of the citizens street railway in Memphis are on a strike. They demand an advance of four cents an hour pay. The company has only succeeded in moving ten cars on its six lines. Forty cars are idle. W. E. Wade, a striking motorman, drew a pistol on a volunteer motorman, but was arrested before he could shoot. There has been no other violence.

For Sale.

A house and lot in South Clarksville, containing three acres more or less. Good outbuildings, good fences, good garden spot, good orchard and cistern. If not sold privately by November 10, will be sold at public auction on that day. Possession immediately. Apply to George P. Kramer.

GOOD FOR GEORGIA.

The Democrats Sweep Everything Before Them.

Governor Northern's Majority Over Twenty Thousand—He Carries Watson's Home District By 1,000.

The following special to the American tells the tale about the Georgia election of yesterday:

ATLANTA, GA., Oct. 6.—Returns from all the counties of the State make the Majority 70,177. It is probable that the official vote will change this a few hundred.

It is a great Democratic victory and means that the South is still solid. Northern's majority in Watson's district is 1,000.

COMPLETE RETURNS.

Georgia Has Gained Seventy Thousand Democrats at Least.

Special to the Leaf-Chronicle.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 6.—A special to the Banner from Atlanta states that complete returns have been received from yesterday's election, fixing Gov. Northern's majority at 70,000. The Peoples' party candidate failed to carry even his own county. Congressman Tom Watson's district has gone Democratic by 1,511 majority. The Populites are annihilated. The Democrat majority is the largest that has been polled in Georgia for many years.

Lung Trouble, Rheumatism, Etc.

Frequently a person is supposed to have the consumption when it is some other disease altogether that is reducing his flesh and making him look pale and thin.

J. W. Yates, Tullahoma, Tenn., writes: "It does me good to praise Botanic Blood Balm. It cured me of an abscess on the lungs and asthma that troubled me two years and that other remedies failed to benefit."

So you see it is sometimes well to try constitutional treatment. No remedy is good as B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) for rebuilding wasted tissue, and giving health to every portion of the system reached by that great circulating stream of life, the human blood. Again it is often supposed that colds and exposure are the only causes of sciatica, rheumatism, etc. Such is not always the case. It is frequently caused by impurities in the blood.

Wm. Price, Louisville, Mo., writes: "I was afflicted with sciatica and had lost the use of one arm and one leg for nine years. I went to Hot Springs and also tried different doctors, but found no cure until I tried Botanic Blood Balm. It made me sound and well. I am well known in this vicinity."

Observe even when the renowned Hot Springs failed, B. B. B. brought relief. Remember, no matter what blood remedy you have tried or intend to try, B. B. B. is the only one that will give you complete satisfaction. Sold by Owen & Moore.

WEAVER'S VISIT.

Grave Fears Entertained by the People of Pulaski.

And it May Be That He Will Get Something Worse than Rotten Eggs.

Special to the Leaf-Chronicle.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 6.—Gen. J. B. Weaver's proposed visit to Pulaski Saturday is the subject of much discussion here. There are grave fears that the people of that place, whom he so shamefully maltreated during the war, considering his appointment to speak there an act of defiance and impudence, may be disposed to resent it as an insult.

Chairman Carroll, of the State committee, has counseled moderation, and every effort will be made by the Democratic managers and leaders to prevent any violence or insults being offered the populist candidate.

The Giles County Democrat of this week fairly bristles with indignation at Weaver's proposed visit, and its tone indicates that his reception in Pulaski will not be very hospitable. Weaver speaks at Goodlettsville to-morrow.

Field-Farings.

Adolph Ballo, carriage manufacturer, 110 Carroll street, Buffalo, N. Y., states: "I was troubled with nausea of the stomach, sick headache and general debility. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me. For sale by Tudhope Drug Co."

From the publishing house of Harper Bros. comes "Field-Farings"—a vagrant chronicle of earth and sky—by Martha McCulloch Williams, dedicated to Mrs. Margaret E. Singster, "Whose heart is a garden all of fragrant things," and, may we add, whose poet pen drips perfume of her heart.

Field-Farings—Early spring—We hear with the author, the robin's note, "Its low, insistent cry;" see gaunt trees against a gray sky; the rabbit's track upon the snow; hear the wood-cutter's ax, "See how they temper their stroke—up, down, in, out the keen blade flashes; slow, aloft—two, either side they stand—bending, swaying, flashing, steady axes momentarily over and around them. Heroes of toil, they fight with this towering giant a battle to delight all Walhalla's warrior gods. Listen! What rhythm of stroke! If the forest must fall, could it wish a stately death knell? It is at once march of doom, anthem of promise, whose fulfillment summer shall write large in Plenty's golden smile. With a wild leap the great tree crashes down hill, quivering in all its length, vibrant to the last tip."

Night comes on. Look at this picture: "See the moon rises in the west—a new crescent, moon, barely able to silver this white world. She holds a star in her horns, hangs far to south—sure portents that the wind will follow her long ere she swells to quarter. Night falls without darkness. From earth to sky there is ebb and flow of light."

We follow the author out in "Winds of March," then back to warm firesides and backlog studies; out again to see "Wild fowls in flight," "Comes summer" we bask in sunshine, hear the swish of the harvest blade, find "where the bee sucks," and smell the sweet odor of trees a-blossom, go through "a riotous garden," hear the patter of "summer rain," "Comes frost" we listen to the "cry of the hounds," then "hor-e and away," "Awake, oh sluggard, the cock crows clear for dawn, the cool, black darkness pales to tender gray; saddle, mount upon the instant, shake free rein and stirrup and tossing mane; then away as the arrow from bended bow. The creek lies a mile ahead. Down, down you go a long, gentle slope, from whose sparse flints the hoofs strike fire. Truly it is breath of life you draw in this rush through dew-fresh air. A fair world indeed smiles up from either hand, but you have no eye, no thought for it; the thrilling, breathless motion wraps you away from other sense. Till the incline is covered and you draw rein at the creek, you look not at wood or field or the east faintly mottled with rose, or the blue-gray overhead, wherein pale stars fight still a losing battle with the day. The mirroring stream makes of them points of white fire in a "magic under-world."

"Christmas," and we have drunk the stirrup cup of "Field-Farings"—a little volume but great book—a glass rich and spicy, full beak and brim of sparkling wine. One may sip again and again and find no dregs at bottom, but feel a fresh tingle of health, a new beating of heart. The artist draws back the curtain. We stand by and see faithful pictures, look with her into the heart of things, see her visions and dream her dreams.

Death Record.

Otis, the two-year-old son of E. L. Woodson, died at the home of his father, near New Providence, Oct. 5, of meningitis, after an illness of a week. His remains will be interred at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Pollard grave yard. The grief-stricken parents have the sympathy of their neighbors in their bereavement.
